ICNM Names Dorset Man as Regional Best Practitioner

The Institute for Complementary and Natural Medicine (ICNM) has named Alan Tinnion as the southwest's regional winner of its Complementary Practitioner of the Year award.

The Award is the first of its kind to be given in complementary medicine and is part of the ICNM's inaugural Complementary Medicine Awards.

Alan is a Traditional Chinese Medicine Practitioner and has worked hard to integrate his skills within the NHS. He also gives his time for free with MIND, to help people suffering from mental health issues. Through his company, Qi China International, he is committed to maintaining best standards within complementary medicine.

Chair of the ICNM Trustees, Beverly Martin says, "This is the first year we have run these awards and they are part of the continuing efforts of the ICNM to raise the standards and profile of complementary medicine generally. The ICNM is pleased to be able to give this award to such a deserving candidate."
